From Don McQueen's "Froth":

"A steam locomotive is running wild without an engineer to stop it that threatens to crash into an express train. Only Helen Holmes can save the day. A 1915 b&w silent short which surprisingly enough for that period illustrates a woman given the opportunity can and will do the job."

Hello John:

How are you? I will be having an Open House again on Saturday April 30th (Hank's layout is "S" scale and features running water!!

In Maple Lake Park, RR#2, Innerkip -county road 29 519 469-3695)

[Well worth the visit! – John]

“It's been over a decade since we introduced "Bar Mills" to the model world, and all we can say is thank you for your support. There are plenty of folks happy to sell you videos, but despite the labor involved we've decided to make free "how-to" videos available on our website. There are nine active links now posted on the site, and about another 10 or so videos to be made. These early ones are pretty basic stuff, as we go along things will turn more to the "craftsman" side of techniques and methods. So, whether you're in "O" scale, or even "Z" scale feel free to visit us at "barmillsmodels.com", look for the video link on the homepage... and be prepared to do a little "armchair railroading" as Jack Ellis and myself discuss all kinds of modeling ideas ! Thanks for your collective time.”
